PRINCE OF WALES ALONE OF FAMILY IS ABSENT

Bride Obviously Happy As She Is Cheered By Street
Crowds

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Amid all the pomp and ceremony of old world royalty, her Royal Highness Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was married to Viscount Lascelles, heir to the Earl of Harewood, in Westminster Abbey today.

It was the first marriage in the reigning royal family in nearly 29 years and was a social event of almost unprecedented splendor, brilliance and impressiveness. The ceremony took place at noon in the presence of the most varied and representative assemblage that ever attended a royal wedding.

All members of the royal family were present, except the Prince of Wales, heir to the throne, who is in India. The bride and groom and the royal family rode in state from the royal palace to the abbey.

Contrary to custom, foreign royalties were not invited. The Most Reverend Randall Thomas Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury, and highest prelate of the Anglican church, officiated. The orthodox ritual followed, by which the Princess promised "to love, honor and obey" her husband.

The Princess was given away by her father, King George. There were about 2,250 guests within the abbey. All traffic was stopped in the streets traversed by the carriages and the crowds were held back by troops. The bride rode in a carriage, accompanied by her maids. As she passed men and women cheered, waved handkerchiefs and tossed their hats into the air.

The bride smiled upon the crowd and was obviously radiantly happy. Viscount Lascelles, dressed in a blue and red uniform of the guard, accompanied by his best man, arrived shortly before the bride and was escorted to a seat to await her coming.

The royal bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a beautiful wedding gown of silver cloth, slightly décolleté and reaching her ankles. Behind Mary came the bridesmaids, three cousins and five personal friends.

Just before noon, as the great organ played "Lead Us Heavenly Father, Lead Us," the door of the Jerusalem opened and the veteran archbishop of Canterbury, accompanied by lesser prelates, stepped forth.

The soft voices of the choir boys then filled the mighty cathedral as the bridal procession approached the altar for the ritual.

In a modulated voice the archbishop then read the Episcopal ceremony for royalty, which was not materially changed from the sixteenth century. The bride and groom in firm, but low, voices pledged their vows. The archbishop then made a brief address, felicitating the couple and pronouncing his blessing and the blessing of the church upon them.

The wedding party passed from the altar of the chapel of Edward the Confessor, where the newly married couple went through the ancient form of signing the register.

After the register had been signed the party, headed by the cannons and the choir proceeded down the aisle to the door of the abbey. As the bride and groom appeared the crowd set up a cheer.

On the return to the palace the carriage in which the bride and groom rode stopped, while a wreath was placed on the casket, the memorial to the British empire's dead in the world war.

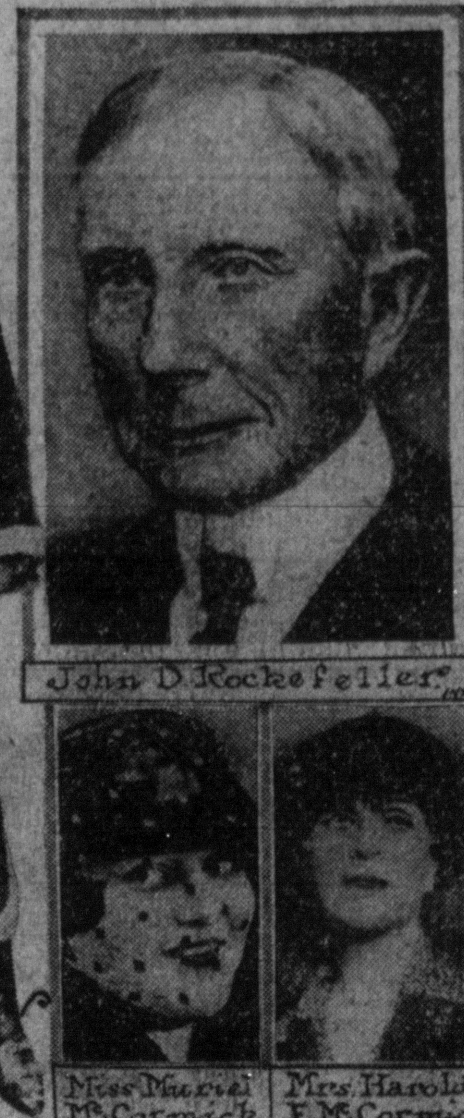

The wedding breakfast was served at the palace at one o'clock, after which the bride and groom departed on their honeymoon.

OLD IDEA TOLD IN A NEW WAY

Mother of Heiress-Bride Works Out Theory Of Feminine Relation To Man.

Mrs. McCormick

John D. Rockefeller

By MARGERY REX
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Oh, sisters, do not "sit in" in a man's game! She who plays another's hand shall meet failure.

Woman's immemorial work in this wide world, added to her present pursuits, can best be done if she retains the feminine role of passivity and lets man play his part without trying to prompt him or provoke him.

In her study of the newer—called "synthetic"—psychology, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, of Chicago, heiress bride, who will wed a Swiss riding master soon, has evolved a philosophy concerning woman's work and its relation to that of man.

In order to found a school in her Lake Forest home for the study of psychology, Mrs. McCormick returned from Switzerland recently. To the Cordon Club, of Chicago, she has outlined her views, which seem a sensible compromise between the extremes of modern thought and the conservative status of her sex. She said:

"Woman in her negative capacity is as great as the man in his positive role, and when woman enters a man's field, understanding her limitations and powers, she is apt to succeed.

"It is when women try to be other than they are by nature, and play the game according to the man's rules, that they are apt to fail.

"In all human activities there are positive and negative forces. Women is a negative force; man a positive."

The speaker cited for illustration a railroad in which woman would represent the rails, the negative force, and man the engine, or positive.

Out of the darker ages, when successful women were expected to somewhat approach men in appearance and manner and mode of life, has come gradually a realization that woman need be no less a woman because she may add other accomplishments to her ancient role of housewife and mother.

Whether she be painter, pianist or politician, woman can still be herself. According to Mrs. McCormick, and also according to a prominent woman lawyer of New York City, Mrs. Pauline O. Field, lately appointed to the district attorney's staff, the woman who is not true to herself is without real success, friends or admiration.

"The woman who wants to play the game in a man's way," emphasizes Mrs. Field, "does not understand or appreciate her own sex."

"Woman's natural endowment tends toward passivity, of course. There is no question about that—that she has the ability to bear, to sustain, to carry even though she suffer. That is the great wonder of woman! Though that is a negative quality it equals man's 'positive' achievements.

day where sex is not involved at all. What woman does she feels she must do well. She can apply herself diligently to her ideals, and the question of her being a woman has nothing to do with her success or lack of it.

"It is still a new thing for great numbers of women to do man's work. Those of this generation are the pioneers, though.

"I agree with Mrs. McCormick in that woman, whether she remain in her home or go to office or business, must be her natural self, a woman. She should never forget she's a woman. Because of it she will get greater respect than if she tries to imitate men."

Delegates are practically unanimous in their opinion the Ford offer will be accepted.

"One hundred per cent for Henry," "10,000,000 farmers want Henry," and other unique slogans on huge banners are being carried to Montgomery by the various delegations of Ford enthusiasts.

FACING A CHARGE FIFTY YEARS OLD

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28.—George Nichols, of Tuscaloosa county, must return to Floyd county, Ga., to defend himself against the charge that he killed Pete Mooney there nearly 52 years ago. Governor Kirby Monday afternoon granted requisition papers drawn by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and directed that Nichols be delivered into the custody of C. L. Wright, deputy sheriff of the Georgia county.

Newspaper dispatches from Tuscaloosa during the day announced that Nichols had been placed in the county jail on the murder charge and that his attorneys would begin habeas corpus proceedings in an effort to prevent his removal from the state. The warrant attached to the Georgia governor's requisition alleged that Nichols then known as Hiram Casey Nettles, on October 25, 1870, "killed and murdered Pete Mooney" by the use of a pistol or gun and that the killing was done with premeditation.

During his long residence in Alabama Nichols has gone under the name of George Nichols and information at the capital is that he had led an exemplary life.

NEED BE NO FEAR OF INTERFERENCE BY LEGAL MEANS, REPRESENTATIVE FROM ALABAMA TELLS THE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Oliver Declares Alabama Power Company
Contention "Absolute Fallacy" and Describes Opposition As "Wholly Unsound"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Congress, not the courts, can dispose of Muscle Shoals, Ala., without fear of legal interference. Representative Oliver, Democrat, of Alabama, today told the house military affairs committee.

Contractual rights of purchase claimed by the Alabama Power Company and threats to resort to court action to compel the government to give it that right need not guide congress in leasing the waterpower project to Henry Ford or anyone else, Oliver asserted.

He declared the Alabama Power company's contention that the government must give it preferential rights to the project is an "absolute fallacy". He characterized the Alabama Power company's opposition to Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals "Wholly unsound."

PRESIDENT HARDING URGES SUBSIDY FOR U. S. SHIPS' RELIEF

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—President Harding went before congress today to fire the administration's biggest gun in the campaign to lift the nation out of the class of sea dependents and make it one of the foremost maritime nations of the world.

A joint session of the senate and house heard the President's message. It was one of the few times in history that an American president ever recommended a government subsidy to elevate the position of the nation internationally. President Harding and his advisers, who have labored diligently preparing the ship subsidy plan, are confident that the early indication of opposition to it will fade away after the plan is fully comprehended.

Their principal trump is that the scheme does not call for any direct appropriation from the treasury, the financial end being cared for by means of a diversion of ten per cent of customs duty into a general revolving fund.

Special tax features also have been designed to make the proposition attractive.

"Kindly urge attendance of county league officers and such delegates as you can send to the meeting in Montgomery on next Wednesday for the Ford proposition for Muscle Shoals. It is most important that every county league be represented."

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR JOHN L. FOOTE

A large delegation of friends of the late John L. Foote, whose death occurred at Hartselle Sunday night, attended the funeral at Hartselle Monday afternoon. Practically all of the officials of the court house were in attendance, attesting the high esteem in which he was held by those who came in contact with him in an official capacity.

Rev. J. H. Hill, who performed the marriage ceremony for Mr. and Mrs. Foote, and who has been a life-long friend of the family, was present and made a talk. Judge L. P. Troup also spoke upon the life of the deceased from an official standpoint. The large Methodist church at Hartselle, where the services were held, was filled to overflowing by friends from all over the county.

Speake, Echols and Speake, the popular local merchants featured the first of the fashion shows at the exposition Saturday night.

This firm featured suits, dresses and hats on live models, making a most creditable display. The men's apparel was also featured, Hart Shaffner and Marx suits being displayed on live models.

The entire display was creditable indeed and showed a wide range of popular spring styles of standard garments, displayed in such a manner that the effect was most pleasing and elicited much favorable comment.

Second Warrant Served On Reeder

J. R. Reeder, who has been confined in the county jail for about a month charged with murder in connection with murder in connection with the death of an infant child, was served with another warrant Tuesday morning out of Judge Lowe's court, the charge being moving and burying a human body without a permit.

COTTON MARKET CONTINUES CLIMB ON MORE BUYING

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Wall street was a seller of cotton at the opening of the market today, but Liverpool and the trade bought rather freely. There was also speculative support of late months, based on the government's warning to cotton growers not to plant so much cotton this season because of the unusual number of weevils that have survived the winter. There were 15 notices.

Opening 5 to 16 points higher, the market later held steady with little change.

Every member of the League who can possibly go is urged to do so.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adapted from a New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Syndicate Service, Inc.

The Accusation Mrs. Harrison Made.

LILLIAN'S police was proof even against Elizabeth Harrison's last desperate attempt to conceal her secret.

"Must you go?" she said sweetly, rising. "But, of course, I realize that this must be monotonous to you."

Was there the slightest stress upon the first pronoun? I could not tell, but I knew by the deepening flush upon my sister-in-law's cheek that Lillian's intention was to thrust her finger into my defense. Her voice, however, was as sweetly as ever as she made her counter-thrust.

"A child's performances cannot help being monotonous to every one except the mother. Don't you think?" she smiled, and looked out of the room. She had reached the door as she finished speaking—before Lillian could have answered her, even if she had wished to do so.

"That woman will burst before night if she doesn't get a chance to vent that suppressed venom on somebody," Lillian commented when the door had closed upon Mrs. Harrison.

"I wouldn't be in Mary's shoes," I said, "if her mother, in her present mood, finds out about that Oriental necklace."

"Neither would I," Lillian returned, "but I'll bank on Mary. Observe, if you please."

Mary was gazing intently toward our window. Then her voice floated up to us.

"Where's mother, Aunt Margaret?" she queried.

"She is a thief."

"I think she went to her room," I returned.

"You're sure she isn't at the front of the house?"

"No, dear."

"All right." She threw herself into a dance posture, gradually wriggled over to the place where she had deposited the necklace, made a swift swoop and picked something up, concealing it in her robe, and floated off again into the centre of the improvised ring. There she stopped and called to Marion, who was industriously turning another series of handkerchiefs as a finale to her part of the program.

"This will be the finish of the first part of the 'entertainment,' she announced, importantly. "Now, come around to the side of the house while we get up that Wild West show. Come along, Jerry."

She led the way, around the side of the house, while Lillian and I smiled at each other over her bustling air. But both smiles were tempered with regret for the unluckily characteristic which we had just observed by Mary Harrison.

"Margaret! Margaret!"

Elizabeth Harrison's voice, raucous and excited, came to us from down the hall, and a second later she had appeared at the door of the room again. For the first time I saw her shorn of her usual rakish composure. Her face was flushed, and her eyes held an ugly glitter.

"I have found out the reason why your wife let go suddenly and mysteriously, Margaret," she said nastily. "She took a thief. My Oriental necklace—gone! has been stolen, and, of course, she has taken it."

"Mother! Oh, Mother!"

For an instant I saw red, and I am afraid I was seriously near to bursting out the truth to her, betraying poor, naughty, little Mary to her mother's wrath. Then the habit of years, and the laws of hospitality to which I have always done reverence, steadied me, and I replied quietly:

"I am sure you are mistaken, Elizabeth. Katie has been with me for years, and while she is meddling she is absolutely honest. I will help you hunt for the necklace, and I am sure you will find it somewhere about the place. You may have dropped it."

"Are you insinuating that I have become feeble-minded, Margaret?" Elizabeth's manner was magnificently contemptuous. "I am not in the habit of 'gossiping my jewels'—her manner suggested a large and valuable collection."

"and I distinctly remember looking this into my case before Katie left. I have not taken it out since."

"You keep your keys where any one could have access to them, then?" I inquired smoothly.

By a certain startled look in her eyes I knew as well as if she had spoken that something had occurred to her which qualified her theory of Katie's guilt. But she is the type of woman who never recedes from a position once she has taken it.

"I keep them where no one but a clever thief could find them," she retorted, then added querulously: "But, of course, I'll make a thorough search for them. You do not object if I go into all the rooms, do you? Katie may have become frightened and have hidden it after she took it, or, of course, there is a possibility that some child may have meddled."

She was looking straight at Lillian as she spoke, but my friend smiled at her as if she had just uttered the most amusing jest in the world.

"Pray take my room first, Madge," she said carelessly, turning to the window and seating herself in a big armchair. And while Elizabeth turned over everything rudely, she watched her with a quiet, smiling amusement which I guessed was driving my sister-in-law wild. We went on, Elizabeth and I, to the other rooms, and searched them thoroughly. Finally, my sister-in-law said decisively:

"It's no use, Margaret, either Katie has it or that Marion has taken it out to play with—what's that?"

From the yard had come an ear-piercing shriek—Marion's voice:

"Mother! Oh, mother! Quick—quick—quick!"

Phillips, of Opelika, candidates for lieutenant governor, have accepted the invitations of the Montgomery League of Women Voters to attend the state-wide mass meeting in favor of Henry Ford's bid for Muscle Shoals at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the city auditorium here.

Each candidate will be placed on the program and will deliver an address on the proposals of Henry Ford and the Alabama Power company. All the candidates had previously expressed the opinion that Mr. Ford's offer should be accepted and that the offer of the Alabama Power company should be rejected.

Preliminary plans for the meeting have been completed but they will not be made final until the arrival late Tuesday of J. W. Worthington, personal representative of Mr. Ford, who is coming from Washington for the meeting. Judge B. M. Allen, of Birmingham, who will be made chairman of the meeting, and former Governor Emmet O'Neal, of Birmingham, who will deliver an address, will arrive Tuesday night.

The committee of Muscle Shoals boosters, which has been here several days arranging for the meeting, today declared that reports from various sections indicate that there will be a large meeting. It was even stated that there probably will be 5,000 people at the meeting if weather conditions are favorable.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion to do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

LYA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first use our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

COMMISSION WILL FIGHT RATE RAISE

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28.—As soon as the Southern railway publishes tariffs putting into effect higher intrastate rates within a radius of 200 miles of Meridian in compliance with the order of the interstate commerce commission, the Alabama public service commission will go into the federal court with a petition for an injunction preventing the application of the higher rates on intrastate traffic. This announcement was made today by A. G. Patterson, president of the public service commission, following the return of Mr. Patterson and B. H. Cooper, associate commissioner, from Washington where they held a futile conference with L. Green, acting for the Southern railway.

Mr. Patterson said no action would be taken until the tariffs had been published. If the order of the interstate commerce commission is not strictly complied with it will not be necessary to go to the federal court, according to the view of Ray Rushton, special counsel for the state; as the injunction obtained in the state courts will stand.

The state contends that the application of higher intrastate rates will produce greater discrimination against their towns in Alabama than were found to exist against Meridian by the interstate commerce commission.

Even if the higher intrastate rates are made effective, intrastate business can avoid them, according to the commission. The interstate commerce commission's decision will force increases only between Montgomery, Birmingham, Bessemer, Selma, Tuscaloosa and Mobile and points within the 200-mile radius of Meridian. It will be possible for Birmingham shippers to avoid the higher rates by shipping their goods from North Birmingham, while Montgomery, Bessemer, Selma, Tuscaloosa and Mobile may avoid them by shipping their stuff by truck to nearby points and then by rail to destination.

Machinists Also Endorse Ford Bid

At the regular bi-monthly meeting held in Carmen's hall last night of Usone Lodge No. 622 of Machinists a number of topics were discussed outside of the regular routine, the one eliciting the most enthusiasm being the question of the disposition of Muscle Shoals. The Montgomery meeting to be held the first day of March was referred to by a number of speakers. J. E. Blair was elected to represent the lodge at this meeting, and all other members who could do so were urged to attend.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The people of this nation through their representatives at Washington must soon dispose of the Muscle Shoals property; and,

Whereas, Henry Ford on the one hand proposes to lease said property; and on the other hand certain interests known to be unfriendly to the best interests of the vast majority of our people have put in belated bids for the same property; therefore,

Be It Resolved, First, that Usone Lodge No. 622 of Machinists denounce these eleventh hour attempts to thwart the will of the people, and to enthrone selfish interests at the greatest waterpower site in the country.

Second, that with the same heartiness we use in denouncing these selfish interests offer to take over the Muscle Shoals property, we commend the generous and business-like bid for said property as made by Mr. Henry Ford.

Third, that as citizens, as well as members of this association, we pledge ourselves to use every honorable means within our power to enthrone Mr. Ford as the rightful lessee and operator of the entire Muscle Shoals project.

Signed in behalf of Usone Lodge, No. 622, this February 27, 1922.

H. A. Shates, President.
E. D. Berry, Secretary.

And Wouldn't Annoy Anybody.

A very bad golfer had been plowing up the turf all the way round. Finally he tore up about a square foot of turf on one of the greens. "Dear me, what shall I do?" he said to the caddy, who replied: "I think, sir, the best thing you can do is to tak' that chunk of turf home with you and mak' a wee course for yerse!"

Typos Endorse The Ford Bid for M. S.

The Albany-Decatur Typographical Union yesterday, at a called meeting, passed resolutions endorsing the offer of Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals and opposing acceptance of the offer of the Alabama Power company.

The resolutions follow:

Whereas, Believing as we do that the offer of Henry Ford to take over and operate Muscle Shoals, Alabama, for the United States government offers a great opportunity for public service and having faith in his ability and good intentions, we, the members of the Albany-Decatur Typographical Union No. 803, do hereby endorse the bid of Henry Ford; therefore,

Be It Resolved, That we, the Albany-Decatur Typographical Union No. 803, go on record as favoring congressional acceptance of the offer of Mr. Ford; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That the Albany-Decatur Typographical Union No. 803 go on record as appealing congressional acceptance of the offer for Muscle Shoals made by the Alabama Power company, believing as we do that their offer does not have the same possibilities for development of our natural resources, for providing employment for the unemployed, or for the manufacture of fertilizer for the farmer, or for the benefit of the public generally, we further believing that their offer is actuated by selfish motives, while that of Mr. Ford is actuated by a desire to serve a great class of our people; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the State-wide Mass. Meeting to be held at Montgomery, Alabama, on March 1st, 1922, with a request that they be read, and that copies be mailed to the Alabama delegation in congress.

Signed in behalf of the Albany-Decatur Typographical Union No. 803 this 27th day of February, 1922.

H. M. Safley, President.
J. W. Growden, Secy.-Treas.

Worthy Achievement.

To write so as to satisfy one's equals and so to appeal also to those who are not specialists—that is not easy. Yet it can be achieved by taking thought; and it is worth all the pains it costs.—Brander Matthews.

BROOKS LAWRENCE IN MOVIE BUSINESS

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Denver Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28.—Dr. Brooks Lawrence, superintendent of the Alabama Anti-Saloon league and one of the best known men among prohibition forces in the nation, has become president of the Southern Church Film Production company, which has been organized at Fairhope, Baldwin county, with an authorized capital of $5,000 and a paid in capital of $2,000.
The first information given to the public that Dr. Lawrence intended to go into the business of producing moving picture films came today with the receipt by William P. Cobb, secretary of state, of a certificate showing that papers for the incorporation of the company had been filed with the probate judge of Baldwin county. For several weeks there have been reports that Dr. Lawrence was organizing the company. It has not become known whether or not the new work will cause the retirement of Dr. Lawrence from the directorship of the Alabama Anti-Saloon league, a position he has held since prohibition became a state issue in Alabama many years ago.
It is the intention of the new film company, according to the certificate, to manufacture films, especially religious films, and it will also have authority to show the pictures and to make moving picture machines. The incorporators are Dr. Lawrence, Mrs. Nora E. Lawrence, E. Winter and M. Ketchen.

We all seek happiness so eagerly that in the pursuit we often lose that joyous sense of existence and those quiet daily pleasures, the value of which our pride alone prevents us from acknowledging.

SON ACCUSED OF SLAYING MOTHER

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28.—(Special)—Milton Drury, held in the Chambers county jail at LaFayette on a charge of murdering his own mother, Mrs. Ada Drury Converse, at Hazlehurst, Miss., will be returned to Copiah county, Miss., to answer the charge. Governor Kilby having granted requisition papers drawn by Governor Lee M. Russell of Mississippi today.
Sheriff H. E. Ramsey, of Copiah county, came to Montgomery, obtained the papers and left later in the day for LaFayette where he will receive Drury from the sheriff of Chambers county. The warrant under which Governor Kilby granted the requisition was sworn out by Sheriff Ramsey and charged that Drury committed the offense February 11.
Drury has insisted that he is innocent and will be able to prove that he took no part in the crime and knows nothing about it. Sheriff Ramsey said strong circumstances have been brought together and made strong enough to warrant the arrest of Drury and his brother, who is now held in prison at McComb City, Miss. The sheriff said Milton Drury left with his mother from another town in Mississippi enroute to Houston, Tex., traveling in a stolen automobile, and that the automobile passed the point at which the body of Mrs. Converse was found. Drury's brother identified the body as being that of his mother. Milton Drury claims he had not seen his mother for many weeks, but Sheriff Ramsey said he had evidence that the two did leave the Mississippi town together.

Amusements

"DON'T TELL EVERYTHING"
Princess Today

The spirit of the outdoors is evident in "Don't Tell Everything," which will be the attraction at the Princess Theater today. It is a Paramount Picture and produced with the usual excellence that characterizes these offerings. The notable thing, of course, is the combination of Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter in the picture which in itself is a superior attraction. But when there is a breezy story, a tangle of fabrications and a lot of good situations enlivened by real acting—it becomes of added interest. Sam Wood directed, Lorna Moon wrote and A. S. LeVine adapted the story. It has to do with two women who love the same man, a self sacrificing friend who loves one of the women and who helps his friend to win her even against his own chances of happiness. There is a spirited polo game and a realistic accident during its progress. It is a real picture with real people in it, and it is handsomely staged.

COTTON SOLD
The little spurt in the price of cotton brought several bales from the hiding places today. The staple was bringing from 16 cents to 17 cents on the local market.

African Salt.
A report made to the French Society of Biology shows that 25,000,000 human beings in the Congo region commonly employ salt of potassium instead of salt of sodium for seasoning their food. They obtain this salt from the ashes of certain plants. Since the opening up of the country ordinary salt has been largely imported, but the negroes regard it as insipid, and abandon with regret the use of their familiar ashes. They take the imported salt only because it is cheap.

MODIFICATION OF RATE LAW ASKED

Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Denver Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28.—The decision of the supreme court of the United States Monday holding that the interstate commerce commission could force an increase in intrastate passenger fares in Wisconsin and had jurisdiction over all rates, fares and charges in New York means that the states must obtain a modification of the federal transportation acts if any jurisdiction is maintained over rates and transportation regulations between points in the state, according to A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama public service commission, today.
The decision caused great disappointment at the capitol. It has been thought the action of the interstate commerce commission in cases involving purely intrastate rates and

Four Will Pay For Crime With Lives

(International News Service.)
NASHVILLE, Feb. 28.—Four men will pay with their lives here tomorrow for the murder of George Lewis, a taxi-cab driver. They will be electrocuted at the Tennessee state prison. The men are Charley Petree, Otto Stevens, Tom Christian and John McClure. The quartette was convicted last fall of having hired Lewis to take them on a 10 mile drive, then cutting his throat at a lonely spot and taking his automobile.

regulations would be reversed. Mr. Patterson said it will now be necessary for the various states to join in a nation-wide movement for the modification of the federal acts by congress. Until this is done the interstate commerce commission will be in position at will to upset any order of the public service commission, according to Mr. Patterson.
